MW Collar Series

The MW Collar Series is a low risk service and is our recommended starting point for those new to investing in stock and options. This market report uses the Collar trading strategy to provide protection for your shares, limiting your risk, in addition to allowing you to gain a steady monthly income without requiring the shares to rise in value.

MW Covered Call Series

The MW Covered Call Series is a medium risk service using Covered Calls and is one of the most popular ways to receive a monthly income (or rent) from your shares, without requiring the shares to rise in value. At the same time, the MW Covered Call Series will also give you some downside protection as well from the monthly income generated.

MW Calendar Series

The MW Calendar Series is a medium to high risk service that uses the Calendar and Diagonal Spread trading strategies. Through the leverage of options this service gives you the flexibility of bringing in a premium without having to own the actual stock as well as allowing you to take advantage of the different option volatilities in the market each month.

MW Spread Series

The MW Spread Series is a medium to high risk service using Credit and Butterfly Spreads which enables you to enter the trading position with a credit to your account. These strategies combine the high probability for success of non-directional trading and the leveraged returns of options which aims to gain great returns in your account.

MW Combination Series

The MW Combination Series is a high risk service that blends Iron Condors, Credit, Butterfly, Calendar and Diagonal Spreads to diversify your Portfolio. The objective is to generate returns through active portfolio management, adjusting the portfolio to obtain greater stability and maximise returns during periods of market volatility.

MW Directional Series

The MW Directional Series is a high risk service that uses Directional Trading strategies which takes advantage of the fast moving nature of the market. Trading directionally is the ultimate way to gain the maximum return on investment. Take your trading portfolio into overdrive with this fast moving market report service and profit whether the market rises or falls.
